

Palette Software and Centsoft are now Rillion

Following the merger of Palette Software and Centsoft, it is time to align offerings and solutions under one brand – Rillion.

In 2018, the Swedish Accounts Payable Software-as-a-service (SaaS) providers Palette Software, with focus on mid-sized companies, and Centsoft, focused on the SMB segment, merged, creating a strong international player with a highly competitive offering and ambitious plans for accelerated growth on both sides of the Atlantic.

Following continued growth both in our Nordic core markets and in the USA, we are now aligning under the common brand Rillion.

Customers and partners will continue to benefit from the same market leading AP Automation solutions under the Rillion brand, signalling that we now are a fully integrated group, delivering a consistent customer experience meeting the highest demands. Year after year, we have enjoyed market leading NPS scores, and as Rillion we intend to further improve our product offering and customer service to continue to earn our customers' trust.

"We are absolutely tech nerds, but we are even more passionate about the human perspective. We strive to make our SaaS solutions and services as easy to buy, deploy and use as possible, so that our customers can focus their time on building their businesses. Rillion brings peace of mind to Accounts Payable", says Mats Ferm, CEO of Rillion.

Our customers will first notice our name change to Rillion in a cautiously rebranded user interface. In the coming weeks, we are also launching new AI functionality, improving Rillion's automation capabilities, as well as a new Insights dashboard, providing improved analytic capabilities for optimising supplier and invoice handling.

With the new brand, and new owners in Altor since last summer, Rillion is embarking on the next phase of its growth journey. "We see tremendous potential in the AP market, Rillion, its solutions and dedicated people. We will continue to invest in rapid growth and further developing the product. The opportunity is there, and we are ready to take it", says Petter Samlin, Partner at Altor.
